WORKSHOP GOAL

Participants will learn HTML/Javascripting components that work well with computer literacy students in designing interactive web pages.

TOPICS

The presentation covers clickable images, forms and dialogue boxes. Supplied materials include: lots of sample assignments, programming examples, etc., teaching units and web resources. Useful Javascript components and guides to teaching Javascripting to novices will also be touched upon, time permitting.

INTENDED AUDIENCE

The workshop is aimed at faculty who are concerned with pre-CS/1 and non-major literacy courses and who would like to know about teaching interactive web components.
